Chief Sinclair of the police department, Grand Juror William Wishart and Overseer W. J. Clapp of the charity department went to Waterbury this morning to attend an adjourned hearing in the case of Ernest Pighini, a granite worker, who was committed to the state hospital for observation a fortnight ago. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pirie, who were recently married in Waitsfield, had a narrow escape from injuries in an accident while on their honeymoon at Balston Lake, N. Y., recently, according to a letter received by the former's father, James G. Pirie of Williamstown. With his wife and brother-in-law, Mr. Pirie was taking a carriage drive near Balston Lake when a heavy touring car crashed into the carriage. The man at the wheel was a skilled operator, else the results might have been more unfortunate, according to the letter. Mr. Pirie suffered slight injuries to one of his legs and the other members of the party were badly shaken up. The carriage was practically demolished. Mr. and Mrs. Pirie will return from their bridal tour Monday.

Barre and Barre Town have thirteen candidates on the state and county tickets and voters of the two precincts who go to the polls Tuesday will have plenty of opportunities to register for home town favorites. On the state ticket G. Herbert Pape of this city is the Democratic candidate for Congress from the second district. Antoine Winner, Socialist, of Graniteville may not outdistance his rivals despite his advantage in nomenclature and there will probably be a Republican lieutenant-governor. George Maker of Barre is a candidate for presidential elector on the Prohibition ticket and Fred W. Saiter and John T. Callaghan electors on the Socialist ticket. Isaac E. Springer of Hartland, until a few years ago a Barre resident, is also an electoral candidate on the same ticket. Judge F. J. Martin of the city for probate judge, Frank C. Bancroft of Barre Town for state senator, both Republicans, Dennis Donahue of Graniteville, a Democrat, for sheriff, are candidates, too. The names of J. M. Williams, Lance Watson, A. Broggie for state senators, and J. A. Cummings and Harry King for assistant judges, complete the list. All of the latter are Socialist candidates.
